The Investigator

The Illusionist

JEFFREY GONZALES vs. DEXTER MORGAN

In the First

PARANORMAL SMACK DOWN

of this Century.

The Paranormal Investigator is Jeffrey Gonzales, MUFON District Director.

The Illusionist and celebrated Magician is Dexter Morgan.

Two opposing minds working together to discover the truths and fallacies about the strange paranormal reports flowing out of Central California.

By combining their experiences and shared wisdom, using high tech scientific gear and the mastery of illusion, they unravel the mystery of paranormal activity ...near their own backyards.

Imagination is more important than knowledge. For while knowledge defines all we currently know and understand, imagination points to all we might yet discover and create. -Albert Einstein

Some believe. Some do not.
That's how the Sanger Paranormal Society operates.
And that's how they get closer to the truth.

Efficient Investigation is what sets the SPS team apart from all other paranormal wannabes. Instead of being lead by curiosity and a burning desire to discover proof of little green men, SPS embeds debunking into every step of their scientific investigations.

Half the team embraces the stories told by alien abductees as truth...
Half the team knows how to create the illusion of a UFO flying overhead.

Half the team is certain they know where Bigfoot sleeps...
Half the team creates fake gigantic footprints in the mud.

Half the team attempts to communicate with ghosts...
Half the team use mirrors to project moving shadows.

Half the team is perplexed by Cattle Mutilations...
Half the team knows how to barbecue a great steak.

Half the team is lead by a MUFON Director.
Half the team is lead by a Magician.

The team is the Sanger Paranormal Society.

It is, in fact, nothing short of a miracle that the modern methods of instruction have not entirely strangled the holy curiosity of inquiry.

SANGER is the ROSWELL of the new Millennium.

P.O. Box 40011 Studio City, CA 91614 818-884-3033 jeffrey@erthbound.com

Sanger, CA is an old west town wedged between UFO Central & Bigfoot Country.

In the 1880's Sanger thrived as a ruthless saw mill town serving the massive logging business made possible by a 62 mile log flume that ran from the high elevations of the Sierras down to the railhead in Sanger. This flume carried rough cut redwoods as well as axe men's stories of the abominable snowmen they had seen darting among the giant trees. Operating the crude mill saws was dangerous work that cost many men their limbs – and lives. The harsh and lawless environment took its toll on the women who worked the bordellos, hotels and saloons. Countless souls never left Sanger. Because this century old town is unaltered by time... its tragic spirits still wander the streets and invade the homes of Sanger.

Sanger also sits under the landing approach to the most mysterious runway on earth, Area 51. For decades, local UFO sightings of strange lights in the sky, silent objects hovering overhead and glowing shapes buzzing the hillsides have been commonplace.

Every investigation takes the SPS team – and the audience - for a ride. Literally. This converted ambulance is now the mobile research center for the SPS team and serves as the perfect paranormal “storm chaser” vehicle to get the team close to site of unusual activity quickly, before the evidence fades into rumor.
